

“Superhero Novel”

Once upon a time, there was a Superhero named “NOVEC”. He has the power of helping electricity go around the world. When he was flying around the city, he heard a shout, “WE NEED HELP!”, “WE NEED HELP!” Superhero Novec saw bad guys went in the family’s house but they did not have electricity to call 911. Superhero Novec charged his superpowers and put the electricity back to the cables and then “BOOM!!” Electricity was back at the family’s phone and they called 911. The police came with a jail locker and put the bad guys in jail.

The family thank the police one hundred billion times and Superhero Novel was very happy. The family knew that electricity is important in the whole entire universe because it save them from the bad guys. After that no more bad guys went into their house because they have electricity.
